Versar, Inc. Awarded $8.26 Million for Architect-Engineering Services at Multiple Locations in Iraq

Springfield, VA, Wednesday, December 10, 2008 -- VERSAR, Inc. (NYSE Alternext US: VSR) announced today that it has been awarded an $8.26 million task order for Architect Engineering (A-E) Services at multiple locations in Iraq. This modification will fund Versar's international subsidiary, Versar International Assistance Projects (VIAP), to provide project development, engineering analysis, engineering studies, facilities/infrastructure assessments, course of action development, cost estimates and preliminary schedules for construction projects in Iraq through September 2009.

VIAP currently provides construction management, quality assurance, engineering studies, feasibility and comprehensive site assessments for over 150 reconstruction project sites throughout Iraq. VIAP also provides technical training and certification to improve the quality of construction projects and develop the capabilities of engineers within Iraq.

Dr. Ted Prociv, Versar's President and CEO, stated, "This award reflects an expansion of our present quality assurance reconstruction work in Iraq. I believe Versar will have additional opportunities to provide its services as the United States' role in Iraq's reconstruction develops in the new Obama administration."
