VERSAR-ARCADIS JOINT VENTURE WINS ENVIRONMENTAL AND MUNITIONS REMEDIATION CONTRACT FOR US ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS

Highlands Ranch, CO & Springfield, VA – October 24, 2016 –Arcadis North America and Versar, Inc. (NYSE MKT: VSR) announced today the Versar-Arcadis Joint Venture has been awarded a new multiyear contract by the U.S. Army Engineering and Support Center – Huntsville to provide environmental and munitions remediation services throughout the United States for eight U.S Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) districts including Albuquerque, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Tulsa, Fort Worth, Seattle, Kansas City and Omaha.

The Versar-Arcadis Joint Venture is one of seven firms selected for award of the indefinite delivery/indefinite quality contracts to provide environmental remediation and munitions response support for various military installations, federal and civil agencies and their partners, including the U.S. Department of Defense and Environmental Protection Agency. The USACE contracts have a total combined capacity of up to $400 million over an approximate 5-year period shared among the seven selected firms. Actual work assignments will be negotiated under task orders with specific scopes of work and will be assigned in the continental United States.

"The Versar-Arcadis team is excited for the opportunity to bring our expertise and lessons learned from our Worldwide Environmental Remediation Services Contract with U.S. Army Engineering and Support Center – Huntsville to these USACE projects," said John J. Nocera, Arcadis senior vice president. "Our expertise in military munitions and smart characterization has resulted in superior technical approaches, and we look forward to accomplishing similar technology gains in the munitions and environmental arena with eight districts of USACE."

"We're pleased the Versar-Arcadis team is able to build on its past success," said Versar Chief Executive Officer Tony Otten. "Our Joint Venture can self-perform 100 percent of the anticipated remediation and compliance project requirements, enhancing our responsiveness and realizing cost efficiencies for our client. Our proven track record in large performance-based remediation projects and Military Munitions Response Program sites, combined with our longstanding relationship with the USACE, brings significant value to USACE and its customers."
